WHAT THE GREAT WARS HAVE DONE-THE ITAL IAN WAR -- The New York Times, in speaking of the results of the late war in Italy, and emphasizing the fact of the emancipation of the people of Lombardy, contends that this war is one that will be distinguished in history for its usefulness. The Times concludes as follows:

What did the war of succession do for kind? What part of the human race was made by it wiser, happier or more comfortable? Above all, what did the wars waged by all the European owers against the French revolution accomplish?
What results did they achieve? To how many nen did they furnish the means of being wiser, richer, or happier than they were before? When Waterloo had been fought and won, there was not a man in Europe who could say that that fright-ful sacrifice of life and treasure had increased his mfort and happiness, colarged the boundaries his knowledge, given him more liberty and ore security. No man has been able since to more security. No man has been able since to follow his own bent, speak or write his thoughts, educate his children, cultivate his own nature, or pursue his own business after his own fashion, and say sincerely, "I owe all this to the twenty years of hostilities against France maintained by England and her allies at the beginning of this century." Coming down to the gigantic contest in the Crimea, and granting that the material results achieved by it have had a certain political importance, what are these coma certain political importance, what are these com-pared to the results which in Lombardy alone have followed the great day of Solferino? What man of gense and honesty, either in England or America, will get up and say that the destruction of an arsenal is to be compared to the admission of three millions of souls to light and liberty, to he unloosing of their tongues, the untying of heir hands, to the great blessing of "unlicensed rinting," and of religious toleration. Nor is this harvest, great as it is, confined to those who will now reap it with delight. Generations yet un-born, millions on millions to whom Solferino will be but a name, with Marathon and Salamis, will owe to the bloody days of last summer's campaign lmost everything which in their eyes will make life valuable. Those who profess to think that the war in Italy has been a barren war, take, it seems to us, widely different views of human happiness and human rights from those which ob-tained in the days of Hampden or of Washington.

RUNAWAY CONTRACTOR—ABSCONDING DEBTOR—FUGITIVE HUSBAND—SEVERAL PARTIES DIDDLED.—Geo. W. Hall, formerly of Covington, Ky., and nore recently of Davenport, Iowa, at which latter place he resided five years, came to this city last February, with first rate vouchers as to his re speciability and integrity. His business was that of a carpenter, contractor and builder, and he was not long, through the aid of influential was not long, through the side of inheritation of the friends, in obtaining plenty of employment.—
Lately he has been engaged in building a large building for Mr. Loker, broker; another for Mr. A. W. Alexander, attorney, and others for other parties. Messrs. Wright & Maddox, lumber dealers, corner of Market and Twelfth streets, were security to Mr. Loker, for Hall's payment of the street of about $3,000, which had been advanced to him.

Mr. Alexander had furnished him with about $1,000 more than the amount due him for carrying on his work, and the Rev. Mr. Page was in some way his creditor for $500 or $600. These parties, and perhaps others, of whom we have not heard, were all left in the lurch on Saturday morning. were all left in the lurch on Saturday morning ast, by the unlooked for event of Hall "turning up missing." His wife, too, to whom he did not reveal his purposes, was left husbandless without he intervention of death or divorce. It is whis the intervention of death or divorce. It is whispered that one Mrs. Tyler, with whom Hall had been on terms of intimate friendship, mysteriously disappeared about the same time that he did, though that is disputed by parties who say they have seen her since; and we deem it just to her that she should enjoy the benefit of this statement, for lovers of gossip are not always particular as to female reputation.—St. Louis Kep., 7th.

perhaps increased inteligence and social comfort, arising from the increased wealth of civilized na-tions, have done something toward prolonging the term of man's existence. It is shown in the the term of man's existence. It is shown in the official returns of the life insurance companies of Great Britain that the average duration of human life is sufficiently on the increase to require a constant revisal of the rates of insurance. If this is the fact, with all the various "pathies" of the medical schools in full operation, we do not hink that the doctors are deserving of half the abuse they popularly receive.

Editors Louisville Courier: We have noticed in our paper the name of Thomas Pearce, Sr., anounced as a candidate for Doorkeeper to the next Senate of Kentucky. It is indeed an humble osition for one who has rendered such service to its party as he has. Having been reared and living in our community from his boyhood up to the present time, (which has been near sixty years), we have had an opportunity to know of the services he has rendered to the party. His Democracy dates from the organization of the Whig and Democratic parties in Kontrokin. Kentucky. Being located in a community of the county almost unanimously opposed to him politi-cally, and as tyrannical a people as now reign over the noble Democracy of Louisville. We have seen him face a crowd with the cannon drawn to his door to make him take down a banner with the name of the gallant Butler inscribed upon it.—

favor for his party.

We have seen him when no other but his two little boys stood by his side, and with their shoulders to arms, (as they had to), defy the threats and lears of an organized crowd, in vindication of their party and principles. It is due to him to say that the party is as much indebted to him, if not more so, than any other, for the large increase in the county—having given the large majority of four hundred votes for the Democratic ticket at its last

Could the one thousand Democrats of Henry speak in the matter, they would say, "If past services and true and honest devotion to the principles of a party are worthy of reward, then bestow upon this old and worn veteran of Democracy the position to which he aspires. MANY DEMOCRATS.

[Special Dispatches to the Cincinnati Gazette.] The Treaty with Mexico—The P. O. Department and the Franking Privilege—California Poli tics—Haytien Finance—Appointments—Vigorou Revival of the Slave Trade-The North Pacific

The special Washington dispatch to the New York Herald says: McLane has arrived at Mobile from Vera Cruz, with the treaty negotiated with the Constitutional Government there, under the recent instructions sent out to him. He is the recent instructions sent out to him. He is expected to arrive here on Thursday night. The treaty contains certain important stipulations in regard to the transit by Tehuantepec, which will form the basis of all our future inter-oceanic transit arrangements, including security of route, free passage of closed mails, ports of deposit on either ocean, and neutrality in time of war. It also opens the route from the Gulf of California to Arizona, and provides for a commission to examine and settle the claims of our citizens against mine and settle the claims of our citizens against Mexico about five millions of dollars, one half of which is appropriated to the settlement of claims, and the other will be paid to President Juarez as oon as the treaty is ratified by the Senate. The reaty secures to us a perpetual transit over the eduantepec Isthmus, which was vainly sought when the treaty of peace was made with Mexico, and for which two millions would have been paid them, and in addition it secures the silver-producing district of Arizonia, a free route to it, and a part of the Gulf of California, which is all important to it, for supplies and immigration. Under the stimulus which this stipulation will give to the industry of Arizonia and Sonora, it is cono the industry of Arizonia and Sonora, it is conideally stated by well informed persons that they will very soon send as much silver into the markets of the world as California now sends gold.

The attempt of the Washington Postmaster to correct an alieged abuse of the franking privilege is likely to give his property to the property of the contract of the contrac s likely to give him much trouble, while the de

The city ostmaster has but recently commenced its encrement, and he says he will enforce it alike upon all members. On the contrary the Republicans claim to have proof that it has only been enforced to their detriment, while documents under franks of Democratic members who have been away for months have been constantly passing through the Postoflice without inquisition. They threaten to bring out proof and substantiate his partiality. in which case his removal may be looked upon as certain. pose to introduce a bill on the meeting of Congress to repeal the penalties in the law against the African slave trade. This will bring a new and startling issue before the people for the Presidential campaign of 1860. My information from the South, authentic and recent, is to the effect that not only has this traffic been reopened, but that it is now vigorously and flagrantly conducted. Some of the first men of the South are engaged in it, and it is asserted that a number of els have been chartered at Savanah, and are giving the names of the leaders in this enterprise not because they themselves refuse to speak of their connection with it, but for other reasons not necessary to enumerate. A very strong sentiment is growing up against the law prohibiting this traffic, and I am assured that any attempt to inflict its penalties will be resisted on the spot. I repeat, upon most distinct authority, that the traffic is now vigorously prosecuted, and that hundreds of Africans are being anded on the Southern coast. Owing to this state of things, the Administration have caused it to be announced that a coast guard is to be established from Charleston to New Orleans, and that a part of the Paraguay fleet will be sent into the Guif for the purpose of enforcing the law.— Deputy Marshals are to be stationed at all availa-

This done, all cause or near it, and they are charged with the duty of establishing proper lines. This done, all cause of difficulty disappears. At the last session of Congress, Mr. Buchanan said in his message that the settlement of the Central American question would wipe out the last remaining subject of dispute between the two countries, but a fresh dispute is MUTINY ON BOARD THE SHIP MAYFLOWER. A mutiny broke out on board the ship May-flower, lying at Thorne's Dock, New York, on Monday last. The crew came on board in the morning, but as the ship had not yet weighed anchor, they refused to obey the mate's orders or do any work. The mate insisting, a fight ensued, to any work. The mate insisting, a light ensued, in which Marlin spikes were freely used, and one of the sailors named Neibour was fatally stabled by Kerwini, the 3d mate, who has been arrested. POLITICS—DESPERATE FIGHT, &c.

The Herald says: The Democratic primary elections in New York excited no interest. The Times says in regard to the Republican State Convention: As near as could be ascertained, it appeared to be the generally received opinion that the friends of Canals will have pretty much that the fire way in the formation of a ticket. There seems to be a disposition to present the strongest possible means for the suffrages of the people at possible means for the surrages of the people at almost any sacrifice, and it is believed that two er three Americans will be included.

The Times says a desperate affray between two parties of Irish laborers occurred about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, in an open space at the junc-tion of Greenwich and Eighth avenues, in which was sent forth by the sufferer, and then the flesh was pulled over the eyes, and so on till the harrible butchery was ended. There is a temple in Catton which I visited, called the "Temple of Horrors." because in several apartments are the most horrible representations of the tortures of the Budhist hell. But nothing there was more infernal than what was seen here.

Such were the tortures inflicted by Yeh upon at least 100,000 human beings in the city of Canton. It is not surprising that the news of his death and the arrival of his body caused outbursts of axis, "a man never has good luck who has a bad wife," which probably accounts for the great number of unfortunate occupants of this planet.

The Chinese Execution Ground-The Execution [Correspondence of the Boston Traveller.] SHANGHAI, NORTHBRN CHINA,

May 31, 1859. We have heard of Yeh, the late Governor of Canton; the world has heard or him, and that same, like Nero, and for the same reason, will be a familiar word in all future time. Singularly, as we were steaming over the Straits of Malacca in our outward bound passage a year ago, we came near falling in with the British man-of-war which had been read the prices of Walacca. had been made the prison of Yeb, and was con-veying him to Calcutts; a few days before we left Hong Kong on our present cruise to Northern China, the British war steamer the Fiery Cross came into port, and anchored near us, having on board the body of the fallen tyrant and butcher, which it was conveying to Canton for interment. He had been kept in confinement, but not in prison, in Calcutta, being treated with all indul gence and kindness. But he took no exercise e ceased to be an object of interest; no one visit ed him; no one, however poor, did him honor; the game of life was up; his race was run; he could not recover his position; in Calcutta he was in disgrace, and to return to his own country, even should he be liberated, was certain death. His mighty spirit, haughty as it had been, was humbled and even broken; and turning upon itself like a vulture, preved upon its own sensibilities, and at length he died. His immense frame his savera heart and indomitable will recommend. frame, his savage heart and indomitable will were obliged to yield to the inward horror which were pent up within him.

There was once a Pasha of Acre, in Syria, of whom I read much and heard much when residing near that celebrated city, to whom the Arabic name of Djezzar, or Butcher, was given, so enormous were the cruelties he inflicted; and, like him, Yeh will be remembered only as the "Chinese Butcher." Pity never entered his heart; he was never known to focusive and hyperseries. Butcher." Pity never entered his heart; he was never known to forgive, and human sympathies he had not. His only pleasure was in others' pain, and his only business in blood. I had read accounts of the scenes on the "execution ground;" I had heard recitals from those who had witnessed then Little did I expect ever to stand upon the same ground and walk over the flagstones on which the executed knelt, and soak my shoes in the dewy grass which had been nourished by their blood! But so it has been. I have been in this Golgoths; have walked and mused in this Aceldema, and dimost trampled upon human skulls. The place on the execution ground where two crosses were ected, upon which men and women were fasten d, and then "hewn in pieces" by a lingering pro-ess, I have stood upon, though the crosses have een removed. I conversed with different persons who had I conversed with different persons who had witnessed those frightful butcheries, sometimes "five hundred" human beings being driven in these shambles, or else carried in baskets, as they carry living swine in Chins, for a single hetacomb in a sacrifice, in which more than one hun dred thousand were offered, and some say ne two hundred thousand. Upon the overthrow of Yeh, and the capture of the city by the French and English, the executions, which still continued nu-merous, and even now are, were removed to another place, but not far distant, and very much resembling the old ground. By a natural mistake, a guide took me to the new ground in the first instance, where, for the first time in my life, I saw human blood shed in execution. It lay thick apon the pavement, almost in pools in some places, and dried to a coat in others, glittering in the sun with a horrible redness. For a long time after English occupancy, gangs were executed numbering a dozen or more at least every fort-night, and the other day an American resident informed me he had just seen twenty-five depitated on the new execution ground. Life is of it; and strangely, one seems not to care for his own more than that of others. The old execution ground is situated about one hundred yards from the river, and is of an oblong form, being about two hundred feet long by fifty wide. The entrance at the end nearest the river is only eight or ten feet wide, and was closed with bars when the bloody scenes were being enacted. The grand entrance at the other end is twice as wide. On one side doors opened into bakeries and other small manufactories; but all was now as silent as death. Not an individual was encoun-tered—not one was seen; and even little children, who were at their sports in the great street into shunned placing their feet upon the soil, or even locking in the bloody arena. It looked like a sep ulchre above the ground.

In the time of the executions, as my friend informed me, when he visited the bloody arena, as he often did, he was accustomed, when he approached the spot, to encounter Chinamen with norrible stench proceeding from the blood and bodies, and carried like a misasmatic breath, far from the narrow area where it originated. On one occasion he found the ground covered with nartially dried gore of the executed, the fruit of the last day's work. There were no drains to take off the enormous quantity of blood accumulating from the butchery of five and six hundred rebels, cess over them, nor was any substance used to slake or absorb it. A man was found, on one visit, digging holes for two crosses, on which he said, upon inquiry, four persons were to be tied and cut to pieces. An account of this day's proceedings as related by my friend, will illustrate all others, as they were mere repetitions.

The execution had been fixed at noon. At half-past eleven half a dozen men arrived at the exoution ground, each armed with what resembled cleaver rather than a sword, and preceded by earers of rough pine boxes, decorated with sides the gang to be executed, which that day number-ed one hundred and fifty. General unconcern and even a social indifference marked the countenances of both soldiers and spectators, who to gether amounted to about one hundred and fifty breeze sprang up, which carried the intolerabl stench from the quarter occupied by the foreigners, who, to the number of a dozen, had obtained admittance to the top of one of the houses on the side of the street at the entrance of this "field of blood." Soon after the arrival of the executioners and the collins, a division of the condemned ap-peared on the ground, consisting of ten indiriduals, speedily followed by the rest of the un-happy wretches in companies of the same

These "man baskets," as they are called, swung with small cords, were carried by bamboo poles upon the shoulders of two porters.
As the prisoners arrived they were taken from the baskets and made to kneel facing the south.— In a space of twenty feet by twelve were counted as many as seventy five prisoners, ranged in half-a-dozen rows. At five minutes to twelve, a Manprobably sprung from the application to him from the Americans there for aid, and against the party of the definet Hudson's Bay Company, with whom the former have occupied the Island as a sort of common ground.

The American and British Commissioners for the American and British Commissioners for the party the boundry live are now on the ground that the meanwhile that this frightening the company of the property of the propert ient. In the meanwhile that this frightening process was going on, the execution commenced, and twenty or thirty were headless before our friend was aware of it. The only sound to be heard was a horrid cheep, cheep, cheep, as the exe-cutioner's knife or cleaver felt upon the neck of the victim. No signs of fear wore seen in the the victim. No signs of fear wore seen in the faces of the prisoners, as they knelt and awaited the fatal moment. No entreaties were made; no shrieks were heard. One blow was sufficient for each, the head tumbling between the legs of the victim before the body fell. As the sword fell, the trunk, spouting with blood, sprang forward, falling on the breast, and was still forever.

In four minutes the execution was completed, and one hundred and fifty human beings of all ages had passed into eternity. Thereon the other sections commenced a work still more barbarous sections commenced a work still more barbarous and horrifying; it might be said to be even devil-ish—for what could be more so? The victims of torture were tied to the crosser which had been planted at one end of the arens, when an executioner approaching, cut a slice from under each arm with a short, sburp knife which he carried. A low, suppressed, fearful groan from each victim followed the gashing, but nothing like a scream or outery. Dexterous as butchers, a slice was taken successively by the operators from the calves, the thighs, and then the breast of each. It may be supposed, or at any rate it may be hoped, that by this time the sufferers had become insensible to pain, though they were not dead. The knife was then thrust into the abdomen, which was ripped up to the breast bone, and then twirled round and round as the heart was separated from its heldings. Up to this moment, our informer said that having once set his eyes upon the victim under torture, they became fixed as if by a strange spell; but now neither he could stand it nor they be riveted any longer. A whirlwhich had been planted at one end of the arena, as if by a strange spei; but now helitar he could stand it nor they be riveted any longer. A whiring sensation ran through his brain, and it was with difficulty he could keep from falling. But this was not all; the lashings were then cut; and his head being tied by the tail to a limb of the cross, was severed from the body, which was then

After this the Mandarin left the ground, to re turn, however, with a man and woman, the latter, as it was said, the wife of a rebel chief, and the man a leader of some rank among the rebels.— The woman was cut up in the way already related The woman was cut up in the way already related, but for the man a more horrible torturing still was decreed. He was literally flayed alive. Our informant did not see the operation, his overpowered sensibilities did not permit it; but an American sergeant of marines did, who described the horrors of the scene. The knife was first drawn across the forehead, at which a piercing scream was sent forth by the sufferer, and then the flesh was pulled over the eyes, and so on till the harrible butchery was ended. There is a temple in Canton which I visited, called the "Temple of Horrors," because in several spartments are the Thousands were put to death who were entirely innocent, except that they happened to be the wives or children of others, or else had common family connections. The calmness and even indifference with which the Chinese meet death, are past belief, and unaccountable; and yet, as the late war has shown, they are a nation of cowards. But cowa dice and cruelty usually go together. I was told an incident in one of these execution scenes which defies credence, and yet is affirmed to be only the sober truth. A young man was brought on the fatal ground with several hundreds who were to be beheaded at the same time. All were upon their knees, drawn up in time. All were upon their knees, drawn up in ranks, and awaiting the fearful signal for the commencement of the day's butchery. A fruit commencement of the day's butchery. A fruit pedfar happened to be passing, when the young man happened to remember he had a few cash, or farthing pieces, in his pocket. He was hungry, for he had been brought a long distance in his basket, and he had gone without his breskfast. Eyeing the length of the rank to which he belonged, he could calculate the time with much exactness when the cleaver would fall upon his own neck. Nothing daunted, he bought some bananas and ate them kneeling; the cleaver, however, almost intercepting them before they had passed from the throat into the stomach! Sometimes twenty-five or fifty condemned rebels were at one time cast into the river together in were at one time cast into the river together in their baskets, to save the labor of execution and the expense of interment. These Chinese are a mystery; I cannot understand them.

The Printing of the Next Congress—New Fields for "Moral Triumphs"—Mr. Banks of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

As all our efforts to have a national printing office established at Washington have hitherto proved ineffectual, the public will be treated next winter to the highly amusing and edifying spectaproved inelfectual, the public will be treated next winter to the highly amusing and edifying spectacle of a sweepstakes contest for the precious prize of the printing of the next Congress. It would be hard to say how many competitors will be in the field. Wendell will be there, and he will be probably the favorite. He has on his side a well-organized printing office, much experience in lobbying, a taste for picking up snug commissions on anything that offers, and a political habit that sits easy upon him and may be made to suit any sort of weather. There, too, will be Heiss, of the States, famishing after a three days' fast, during which he has had hardly anything from the public crio. He and the Chevalier Forney will probably hunt in pairs, as they have each the same sort of political influence—that is, solely among the anti-Lecompton or Douglas Democrats. Little Banks will hover around with the votes of the Virginia delegation in his pocket, offering to sell them to the highest bidder, as he did at the last Congress to Steedman, the pair then making quite a nice little arrangement with Wendell. How many western editora, incited by Steedman's fortune two years ago will be on hand with the votes of their State delegations in their pockets, ready, like little Banks to trade years ago will be on hand with the votes of their State delegations in their pockets, ready, like little Hanks, to trade them off, it would be difficult to estimate. They will be there, certainly, in scores. From the East, too, there will be candidates innumerable. Finally, the fastidious and elegant John C. Rives will be on hand, ready to show by facts and figures that cannot lie, that he has been the most self-sacrificing public printer that ever lived, ruining himself at the rate of one or two hundred thousand dollars per year by one or two hundred thousand dollars per year by his contract with the Government for reporting the debates, and willing to undertake the public printing on the same terms. Rives ought really to get the printing, for he is honest and practical.

But it is not likely he will. He cannot succeed against corrupt combinations.—N. Y. Herald.

MIRAMON-HIS PERSONAL APPEARANCE,-Miramon appears to be about 28 or 30 years of age, five feet nine inches high, and of slender, genteel fig-ure, which is well set off by his fine uniform. He has beautiful brown hair, wears a moustache and goatee a la Napoleon, and his compiexnon is not dark, but slightly muddy. His eyebrows are finely penciled, and there is a bad, sinister expression about his eyes and mouth. Miramon may be called a handsome man, but his countenance, head and entire bearing give no evidence of commandating intellect or trains of character such as well as ing intellect or traits of character such as we look for in a superior general or statesman. Miramon is nothing of the kind. He is a butcher at heart, and, like those around him, an exaggerated mon-key in statesmanship. He owes his present posi-tion and fame simply to the paucity of anything above the rank of mediocrity in Mexico in these days, and to the other fact that the clergy seized upon him as a pliant tool.

GUNSMITHS. Although this has long been a large market for the sale of guns, pistols, and other articles ap pertaining to the manufactures of the gunsmith, it has unfortunately been one devoted to Eastern work. It may not be invidious here to mention a few facts, and intrude a few remarks, in regard to the feeling which exists among traders and jobbers in this matter. Eastern work is preferred to home manufactures, not because it is superior either in durability or finish, but simply because agents, and others in the interests of Eastern man ufactures, have pushed their wares by every means, legitimate advertisement and unfair chicanery, before the people. There is no Eastern made work sold here which is superior to that Judge Douglas made a statement in Columbus which has escaped the notice of our politicians .-It is, that "the Legislature of Kansas, on the 9th of February, 1858, passed an act repealing a slave code passed by a former Legislature, and, by this act of unfriendly legislation, had abolished slavery in Kansas." This fact had certainly escaped our knowledge, and we are glad that Judge Douglas has mentioned it. If this unfriendly act of legislation against slavery in Kansas has been passed, and the courts fail to pronounce it null and void, then the whole South will go to Congress next winter, and demand that that legislation shall be wiped out.

Here, then, if Judge Douglas' statement is correct, is the first fruits of "unfriendly legislation," and so it will continue to be if the South tamely submits. What say the people in this State to Judge Douglas' idea? He justifies the freesoilers for abolishing slavery, and stigmatizes the act of the Territorial Legislature protecting slavery, as a "slave code." Is not this language significant, and does it not indicate that Judge Douglas is pandering to the demoralized sentiments of the people of the North?

Judge Douglas, however, is continually shifting on the Territorial question. Last year he acknowledged that the slave holder had the right, according to the Dred Scott decision, which he professed to indorse, to take his slave property into the Territories. But what does the right amount to, if so soon as the slave is carried into the Territory, he may be virtually emancipated by "unfriendly legistation?" What does the right to carry slaves to a Territory amount to, if after they are taken there they are valueless, for want of adequate legal protection? The people of the South will not be cheated by any such "short cuts to Abolitionism." Rather than yield to such a doctrine, the South had better at once surrender everything to the North. With Douglas' dogma carried out, slavery will be effectually crushed out wherever the North may choose.

If Judge Douglas goes on in the same style in the speeches he may bereafter deliver as he did at Columbus, then his speeches will damage him as much, if not more than his copy-righted essay in Harper. His assaults on the Southern De mocracy are uncalled for, ungenerous, and coming from Stephen A. Douglas, are an act of unequalled coolness and effrontery. He calls those Tories who advocate Congression al intervention. If this be so, then has Judge Douglas, until the last few years, been a Tory of the deepest dye. He has voted for the application of the Missouri Compromise to our Territories, he voted that the laws of the Oregon Territorial Legislature should be examined and repealed by Congress; he has held that the people of Kansas could not call a convention to make a constitution, without an "enabling act" from Congress; he went also for the celebrated Toombs bill, and voted against the Lecompton Constitution because it was not ratified in the way he, not the people of Jefferson County, Portland, New Albany was not ratified in the way he, not the people of Kanses, wanted. Douglas talk against intervention. His whole Congressional career refutes and and answers him; it is a withering satire on his professed non-interventionism. Douglas talk about interventionists being modern Tories-then is he the very head and front.

Voice of the Democracy of Adair-Squatter Sov-ereignty Repudiated. The gallant Democracy of Adair county met in convention at Columbia, on the 5th inst., and passed a strong and decided resolution against squatter severeignty. This is the first meeting held in the State appointing delegates to the convention at Frankfort next January, and indicates that the Democracy of Adair are true to the Constitution and the rights of the South. We hope their example will be followed by the Democracy of every county in the State. Let there be a gen eral expression of opinion throughout the whole State, and let it be at once. It would gladden the heart of every true Democrat in the country to know that every county in Kentucky repudiated he odious dogma of squatter sovereignty. We hope the Democracy of the State will everywhere be on the alert; see to it that there is a full expression of sentiment; don't allow packed conventions to be gotten up; but speak out boldly the true Democratic doctrines. Gloriously has Adair set the example, and her sister counties will, no doubt, respond in quick succession. Let the platform of our party be the Cincinnati platform, the Dred Scott decision, and the repudiation of squatter sovereignty. On such a platform, we will at least deserve if we do not attain success. Here is the Adair county resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That it is in opposition to the faith of true Democrats to admit that a Territorial Legis-lature can, either by unfriendly legislation or non-action, exclude slavery from a Territory. What county will speak next? Keep the ball in motion!

THE PROSPECTS OF LOUISVILLE-FALL TRADE. Already our city wears an appearance of unusual life and activity, our hotels are crowded with merchants coming to make their fall purchases and everything indicates a decided improvemen and animation in the business of the city

Never have we seen a better or more hopeful feeling pervading the whole business community; and our citizens are already beginning to thoroughly appreciate the advantages we possess as a great commercial emporium, as is evidenced by the rapidly increasing value of property, and the spirit of improvement everywhere manifested.

The Nashville Railroad, which will probably be completed within sixty days, will mark a new era in the history of our city's progress, opening new avenues of trade and commerce which will pour into the lap of Louisville their untold wealth. The productions of the great Southwest will seek this city as their natural outlet, and thereby bring within our grasp its trade, commerce, and travel. With every advantage of location, with extended steamboat and railroad communication, there is no reason why Louisville should not continue to move forward with great rapidity in her career of prosperity and increasing wealth.

Our merchants are fully awake and prepared to meet the demands of increased trade and business. Their stocks of goods were never more complete, and they offer inducements to country customers which cannot be surpassed by any city in the merchants, and to retain it they should, and doubtless will, offer liberal terms to purchasers. In this manner they can not only retain to Louisville its present extensive trade, but add greatly theretc. Louisville has in store a magnificent and prosperous destiny if her citizens will be but true to her and to themselves.

Bears in Virginia.—The bears are very troublesome in Roanoke county, Va., this season, and have committed great depredations on the corn, for which the farmers have turned out guneorn, for which the farmers have turned out gunning for them. A letter says:

Three or four have been killed on Bradshaw's creek within the last two weeks, and on last Saturday three were killed about three miles from Lafayette, near Prince's, on the North Fork. W. C. Waskey, Esq., shot a very large one this morning, making the number killed seven or eight during the space of three weeks. So frequently are they seen, and so much excited has the neighborhood become in their anxiety to capture them, that there is scarcely a day passes without some party being out in pursuit of them.

OPERATIONS OF THE U. S. MINT.—The gold coinage of the U. S. Mint in Philadelphia, for the month of August, was $75,154,05, in double eagles, eagles, and quarter eagles. The silver coinage was $64,487 15, being in quarter dollars and dimes. Of cents, 25,000 were coined. The whole number of pieces coined was 2,738,542, of the aggregate value of $174,688 20. The total gold deposits of the month were $111,650, of which $66,566 81 were from California, and $45,088 19 were from other sources. The silver deposited was $64,000. Total deposits for the month $179,990.

HART COUNTY COURT, SEPT. TERM, 1859.

The following proceedings were presented to the Court, and it is ordered that they be spread upon the record, viz: At a meeting of the citizens of Hart county, assembled at the court house in Munfordsville, on Monday, September 5th, 1859 — being County Court day—for the purpose of giving a public ex-pression of the estimation in which the acts of John L. Helm, as President of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, are held by the citi-zens of Hart county, Geo. T. Wood was called to the chair, and Isaac W. Edwards appointed sec-

Resolved, That the Hart County Court be requested to enter these proceedings of record, and the Louisville papers to publish the same.

JAS. A. DAWSON, C. H. C. C. THE VINEGAR PLANT .- A number of housewives. in our county, have, for some months, been using what is known as the vinegar plant. By means of it they are enabled to manufacture a superior article of vinegar. It is a vegetable mother, thicker and more solid than any we have ever noticed, strongly resembling tripe, only more yel low, and generally attains about one-half inch in thickness. Those who wish to make vinegar, take ten quarts of soft water to one quart of molasses, place them in an open jar or barrel, and put in a plant, which will grow, and the vinegar will in-crease in strength for twenty-one days, when the plants (for another plant will have formed under the original one, which will occupy the area of the top of the vessel containing it,) must then be removed, or the vinegar will, after this, eat them up. The vinegar has a peculiar pleasant flavor, and approaches nearer to pure cider vinegar than any manufactured we have have tasted. The plant floats upon the top of the vinegar, but if re-versed, will sink and will not grow. We do not versed, will sink and will not grow. We do not know where the plant originated, but have been told that it is to be found on a lake in Iowa; others, however, say that it is manufactured by certain chemists. - Maysville Eagle.

Vulcanite Base for Artificial Teeth has been thoroughly tested and used in Eastern cities for the last four years, and proved, beyond a doubt, to be the best substitute ever used as a base for sets of teeth.

It possesses the following advantages over me talic plates : It is not more than half the weight of metal, is indestructible and perfectly cleanly. The absolute certainty of fitting the mouth renders the old form of plate unnecessary, doing away with more than half the width, getting a better fit, and not at all impairing the taste, as is the case where the whole of the mouth is covered with a plate .-Its extreme lightness renders it particularly adapted to filling out sunken portions of the face. To those who are wearing sets that they cannot eat with, we would say that if they will give us a trial we will guarantee them teeth with which they can eat and wear with ease and comfort. LOUISVILLE, March 16th, 1858.

We, whose names are hereto attached, would respectfully state that Louisvile and vicinity, have heretofore been entirely dependent upon river navigation, obstructed by ice a considerable part of the winter, and the low water in the summer, together with the heavy losses incurred by sinking and wrecking of boats, has caused the price of Coal to rule high, which has been a serious drawback to our manufacturing interests, to overcome these difficulties we have necessarily to look to the coal fields of Indians, the nearest of which, approximate te within 75 or 80 miles of the Falls of the Ohio river; the coal and iron lands situated on both sides of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, in Martin County, cannot be considered otherwise than valuable, especially those now offered for sale by Jas. H. Shields and Jas. A. Doll, as we are informed that their lands are the most accessible to the road, and can be brought into A. FRENCH TROPICAL Fever and Ague all Billious Complaints.

A certain Cure for Fever and Ague, Remittent and Intermittent Fever, and all Billious Complaints.

It is a well known fact that the different fevers and billious complaints are caused by the poisonous missma and exhalations from the surface of the earth, which are taken into the system by respiration. To neutralise this subtleploson and counteract its effect upon the system, is therefore what we have to aim at, and with this view the "French Tropical Fever and Ague Mixture" has been prepared.

The high reputation which this medicine has gained within so short a time in the South and West where it has been introduced, is a sufficient proof for its superiority above all other compounds of the same kind.

As an antidote to maiaria, this medicine sfands unrivalled; and as it is purely vegetable, it can be safely given to children and delicate patients, not only in case of fever, but in all cases where a good tonle is required. The French Tropical Fever and Ague Mixture is prepared by is. LaPLACE, Chemist and Druggist, New Orleans, and sold by all respectable druggists throughout this city.

LOW WATER .- THE RIVER continues steadily to recede, with only two feet nine inches water in the canal, last evening, by the mark. During the previous 24 hours the river had fallen some two inches at the head of the falls, making about six inches at the Portland wharf, leaving but four feet water on the Portland and New Albany bar. The weather was cloudy, and much warmer than it had peen for some time. At Pittsburg, at noon yesterday, there were but fifteen inches water, which is about the lowest state it has obtained at that point this season. At all points between Pittsburg and Cincinnati the river is proportionately low, and none but the lightest crafts can successfully navigate between the two points. nce to Cincinnati there are but four feel water, and falling, and the Madison and Cincin-

The Fanny Bullitt and Fair Play had not reached that point, and it was thought they would have trouble working over the bar. The fleet and punctual packet, John Tomp kins, Capt. Law and Order Mesting in Baltimore. ARRIVALS AT THE PRINCIPAL HOTELS. BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 .- The town meeting called UP TO TEN O'CLOCK P. M. by the 2,000 merchants, mechanics, business and professional men of Baltimore, assembled this af-ternoon at 4 o'clock, in Monument Square, to derate upon, and devise means for rescuing the city from its present condition, and restoring the supremacy of law and order. The vast square was densely packed, and all the avenues leading thereto were thronged by masses of the most or-derly, respectable and infinential of our citizens. The meeting was organized on motion of Chas.

D. Hinks, by calling to the chair Wm. Woodward, Esq., of the well known firm of Woodward & Co.
The preamble and resolutions submitted set forth in clear and emphatic language the social and political evils so long endured by the citizens the public at the ensuing election, by protecting the purity of the ballot box, and placing in nomination honest, able, and fearless men in opposition to the nominations of the political clubs. The resolutions also provide for the appointment of a committee to call on the Mayor and demand the appointment of reliable men as judges of the next election, and the appointment of a special police force to keep the polls clear so as to allow the exercise of the elective franchise.

The resolutions emphatically disavow all party ties, and empower a special committee to nominate, irrespective of party, the most respectable and reliable men for the officers shortly to be elected.

The resolutions were adopted unanimously.

The meeting was addessed by Wm. George Brown, Eaq., a distinguished leader of the bar; James Hodge, Esq., merchant, of the firm of Hodge & Brothers, and Geo. M. Gill. The speeches were received with shouts of approval. During their progress, several efforts to interrupt them were made by the rowdy gangs, but they were promptly suppressed. After the adjournment of the meeting, a body of rowdies rushed upon the platform, and one attempted to harange the crowd. The police, however, interfered and promptly arrested the ringleaders, and carried some fifteen
